Everything But the Turkey!

The Table, the Chairs and the Sideboard are more essential than the Turkey. A good Dining Table is the foundation of a Thanksgiving Dinner. We are showing this week in our windows a well-appointed Dining Room and Kitchen. Never have we been so well prepared to show you the furnishings of these two rooms of the house as now or to offer you better values. It doesn't matter whether you wish to purchase a single piece or a complete suit, your best interests are here in this large stock with its money-saving prices.

DINING TABLES

A high grade, single pedestal Table, made of quartered oak in golden finish, 45-inch round top and large claw feet. Regular $22.00 value. Special at $18.50.

HULDA SAYS:

"It's so sad to have to cut the heads off these nice Turkeys, but then they taste so good. A nice new Table will make your Thanksgiving Turkey taste much better, though."

It is almost impossible for the committee of the Universalist society to meet everyone and, if there are any who have not been asked, for a social evening for the sale Friday and Saturday evening, they ask them, through The Times, to kindly bring something—an apron or any useful article. If inconvenient to make anything, please drop in a silver piece; it will be gratefully received.

"The Lion and the Mouse," which Henry B. Harris will present in this city at the opera house next Monday evening, is an American play essentially and conspicuously such, and based upon a theme which has not been before exploited dramatically. It deals directly with a subject which at the present moment is very much in the public mind. The corruption of politics and legislation by the power of combined money making organizations and the dominance of unscrupulous kings of finance. To Charles Klein, who wrote the play, and Henry B. Harris, who had foresight to appreciate the timeliness of it, is due credit for undoubtedly one of the best dramas that has been seen in America in many years. The announcement of the production here is causing much comment. The seat sale is announced for Saturday morning at Kendrick's drug store.
